Alice Herz Sommer was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1903. She was a talented pianist and music teacher, and she loved to share her music with others. In 1942, Alice and her husband were sent to the Theresienstadt concentration camp. Despite the horrors she witnessed there, Alice never lost her hope or her love for music.

After the war, Alice and her husband immigrated to Israel. They settled in Jerusalem, where Alice continued to teach music and share her story with others. In 2006, Alice was awarded the Righteous Among the Nations medal by the Yad Vashem Holocaust Memorial.

Alice Herz Sommer passed away in 2014 at the age of 110. She was the world's oldest living Holocaust survivor. Her life was a testament to the power of hope, resilience, and love.
